

ZCB reviews

Rock Era Magazine:

<https://www.rockeramagazine.com/ep-the-great-rewilding-by-zero-carbon-band/>

A rock/pop album with movement, energy and an important message to the world
"I'm A Tree"...an infectious melodic pop rock song...it feels like it would have been something the Beatles would sing and perform

"Sinking Sea-Sick Home-Sick Blues" ... it's a more downtempo song...it reminds me of 'house of the rising sun'...it sounds classic and iconic...it has this kind of soul to it... catchy, won't leave your mind for a long time

"The Great Rewilding" ...it's full of energy...it's the imagining of an alternative future if we all really cared about nature and about our planet...it's anthemic and full of positive vibes

"Commotion In The Ocean"... has a light tone to its lyrics, itself fun and informative

Rock Charts:

<https://rockcharts.news/artist/artists/rock-renaissance-independent-rock-alt-rock-and-more-innovations/>

I haven't felt this excited about music in ages (scroll down to band #5)

Mesmerised:

<https://www.mesmerized.io/zero-carbon-band-champions-climate-activism-in-the-great-rewilding/>

Zero Carbon Band Champions Climate Activism in 'The Great Rewilding' an inspiring musical project calling for a more organic and soulful way forward

A collection of five stunning songs; sonically navigating pop, indie and funk territories relevant and relatable lyricism; head honcho Si-Fi, steadily driving the ship forward. Benjamin Simha's lead vocals really hit the mark, being so dynamic yet evocative and friendly

Iggy Magazine: (in French)

<https://www.iggymagazine.com/saisissez-vous-les-premiers-de-ce-ravissant-projet-que-proposent-le-groupe-zero-carbon-band-leur-genial-ep-intitule-the-great-rewilding/>

Be the first to seize this delightful project offered by the group Zero Carbon Band, their brilliant EP entitled "The Great Rewilding"...a danceable dynamic

Info Music: (in French)

<https://www.infomusic.fr/le-baume-de-ames-en-peine-the-great-rewilding-de-zero-carbon-band/>

The balm for lost souls

makes you want to dance and jump in all directions, it is so joyful

With its playful rhythms, its strong drums, the happy synth and the sumptuous voices of our artists, this single is a real breath of fresh air

Illustrate Magazine:

<https://illustratemagazine.com/the-great-rewilding-by-zero-carbon-band-ep-review/>

an indie, funky eco-pop musical masterpiece that takes listeners on a captivating journey of environmental consciousness huge range of vocals ebbing and flowing evocative lyrics and an atmospheric soundscape

a testament to Zero Carbon Band's dedication to creating meaningful music that serves as a catalyst for positive change

Music Taste:

<https://www.music taste.uk/post/the-great-rewilding-review>

diverse range of musical influences and creative talents

"Our Allotment," a quirky and lighthearted track that immediately draws you in with its Beach Boys vibe mixed with vocals reminiscent of David Bowie

"I'm a Tree" with a slower and more melodic tone that highlights the band's ability to create beautiful vocal harmonies.

"Sinking Seasick Homesick Blues" has a more melancholic energy than the previous tracks, and the arpeggiated guitar chords are used to great effect, creating a beautiful and atmospheric sound. The vocals are haunting and emotive, and the lyrics paint a vivid picture of the severity of pollution in the ocean. It's a standout track that showcases the band's ability to create music that is both informative and engaging.

"The Great Rewilding" is an EP that will leave you wanting more from Zero Carbon. Their ability to blend different musical styles and influences is impressive, and their talent for creating memorable melodies and lyrics is evident throughout.

If you're a fan of indie power pop music that is both fun and thought-provoking, then "The Great Rewilding" is definitely worth a listen.

Edgar Allen Poets:

<https://www.edgarallanpoets.com/the-great-rewilding-is-zero-carbon-bands-ep-out-now/>

This band has a very interesting artistic vision.

A unique musical project and concept indeed.

The compositional style takes inspiration from the past, from classic rock.

It is evident that Zero Carbon Band have spent a lot of time in the rehearsal room to achieve such an enviable musical alchemy.

The passion that the band members put into interpreting and performing these songs is contagious.

Particular mention for the singer who has a very interesting vocal timbre that manages to distinguish the sound of this band even more.

All the songs are solid and above all they share an important message.

A band that I recommend everyone to listen to, you will be surprised by the quality of their music.

Lost in the Manor: (scroll down to Zcb)

<https://www.lostinthemanor.co.uk/blog/2023/5/11/litm-indie-rock-picks-this-week-celebrate-rock-music-with-doll-riot-blake-havard-and-more>

If you enjoy Classic Rock from the 60s and 70s you will fall in love with Zero Carbon Bands style of music.

incredibly warm springy guitar tones and a swinging groovy beat

The vocals are crisp and soulful spreading their environmentalist message in a fun way through their music

Music For All: (in Brazilian)

<https://musicforall.com.br/zero-carbon-band-temas-ambientais-vem-com-trilha-de-rock-versatil-em-novo-ep/>

Ah, how cool is this work by the alternative band Zero Carbon Band.

they deliver a very cool sound, well played and produced from indie rock, through classic rock, pop and even prog rock

The vocal timbre reminds us a lot of Geddy Lee (Rush), especially in the higher notes.

FV Music Blog: (scroll down)

<https://fvmusicblog.com/hot-picks-10-5-23-the-best-new-releases/>

Rock-pop release complete with thought-provoking lyrics, charming vocal performances and excellent musicianship

Stays with the listener long after the music has ended

EL News: (blog, scroll down)

<https://elnews.world/f/shadeland-sonic-maven-tsunamiz-wotts-zero-carbon-review>

This innovative collection of songs showcases the band's unparalleled ability to fuse Indie/funk influences with a mission to save the planet, resulting in a melodic pop-rock masterpiece.

Each track on the EP presents a unique perspective on environmental issues, weaving captivating narratives that range from the celebration of trees in "I'm a Tree" to the haunting portrayal of a future impacted by climate change in "Sinking Seasick Homesick Blues." The band's ability to infuse their music with thought-provoking themes is truly commendable.

An EP that transcends genres, blending elements of power pop, melodic rock, and classic sound to deliver an unforgettable musical experience

Catchy tunes

Zero Carbon Band's dedication to their craft, coupled with their profound message, establishes them as a force to be reckoned with in the music industry

Their ability to combine meaningful storytelling with infectious melodies is a testament to their artistry.

'The Great Rewilding' is an Eco-pop opus that demands attention. Brace yourself for a musical journey that will leave you inspired, motivated, and ready to take action for a greener future.

Dulaxi:

<https://dulaxi.com/music-%26-entertainment-1/f/zero-carbon-band-releases-their-latest-astounding-eco-pop-ep>

Powerful eco-pop EP that combines infectious melodies with thought-provoking lyrics fusing infectious indie/funk melodies with a passionate commitment to environmental consciousness

Band leader Si-Fi's original compositions form the backbone of this transformative musical experience, with creative input from the entire group

Hail Tunes:

<https://hailtunes.com/9-oclock-nasty-zero-carbon-band-joshua-ketchmark-danza-aliena-and/>

The band's music is catchy and fun, but it also has a serious message

ZCB is a force for good in the world

Radio plays so far:

<https://www.dropbox.com/s/2ptoqcp0wkfuycr/Zero%20Carbon%20Band%20The%20Great%20Rewilding%20Album%20Airplay%20Schedule.pdf?dl=0>